This annual WISER forum will feature the iOme Challenge winning team of college students who will discuss their advisory paper in response to this year's challenge question. The iOme Challenge encourages students to challenge status quo thinking about the current state of retirement and propose viable policy recommendations.

This year, student teams were asked to explore one the biggest obstacles Millennials face in saving for retirement--student loan debt. The Challenge question asks teams to develop a policy proposal that will help solve or ease the burden of college debt for Millennials, and then offer ideas for developing incentives to ensure that their earnings will be redirected into retirement savings.

This year's winning team was a first-ever collaborative effort across schools.

Team members include: Yankang (Bennie) Chen, Columbia University; Jiayu (Kamessi) Zhao, Columbia University; Siheng (Asa) Li, Amherst College; and Qiufeng (Joseph) Zhang, Duke University. The team's faculty advisor is Prof. Jonathan E. Vogel, Columbia University. Read the winning essay.
