What Women Need to Know about Financial Security and the Workplace – Sept. 14, 2017 at 2 pm EST. Throughout their careers, women may face challenges to their financial security, both short-term and long-term. Many factors can affect their financial goals and the challenges vary from woman to woman. The very nature of their jobs (such as part-time), to taking time out of the workforce to care for family, and living longer in retirement can all impact the financial security for women. For women serving in the military, transitioning to civilian employment may also become a significant factor. Caregivers and military spouses also face additional considerations impacting their financial security. Join the Department of Labor for a webcast highlighting these challenges and steps women can take to improve their financial security. For more information and to register, please visit
