

Applications for the 2017 FINRA Investor Education Foundation Military Spouse Fellowship Program open this Wednesday, March 1. As an important partner in financial education, we ask that you help us spread the word for this excellent program.

The FINRA Foundation administers the Fellowship in partnership with AFCPE® and the National Military Family Association (NMFA). The program provides up to 50 military spouses with the education necessary to earn the AFC® (Accredited Financial Counselor®) certification and enter the financial counseling career field. It also allows military spouses to give back to the military community while supporting them in building a portable and rewarding career.

Applications are available at <http://www.militaryspouseafcpe.org/> from March 1 – April 21, 2017.

To help you share this opportunity, we've put together some email language, social posts, a flyer and even a formal letter you may distribute to military leaders: Download Communication

Thank you for your support in building another strong class of FINRA Foundation Military Spouse Fellows!
